

Accelero Sustaining Member of the CONELIS Competence Network Life Science

Berlin, 27 September 2019

Accelero is pleased to announce that the company has been selected as a sustaining member of the CONELIS network life science. The CONELIS network accumulates top-class consulting services for the biotechnology and pharmaceutical industry.

CONELIS is the first choice for covering the entire value chain of life science from early discovery to product commercialization. Rigorous member selection and internal measures ensure a high level of consulting quality for CMC, non-clinical development, clinical development as well as regulatory affairs, business development, intellectual property and corporate design.
